43	OPC		PR3.1	We applaud the City's continued commitment to having high quality parks that are in close proximity of residents and that are easily accessible. We believe that gathering spaces are needed in order to provide for the wide range of benefits parks offer, such as those typically found within a neighborhood or community park, rather than along a linear trail. We suggest adding the following modifications (new text as underlined):	PR 3.1 Provide parks with gathering spaces in close proximity (within ½ mile) to all residents. The distance should be measured by following an accessible travel route suitable for walking or small mobility device.
44	OPC		PR4.4	Add facilities (amenities) that support people arriving by non-vehicular access.	PR 4.4 Encourage walking, bicycling and other non-vehicular access for recreation and transportation purposes by linking parks to multi-modal routes, streets and trails in coordination with the Transportation Master Plan. Where appropriate, add facilities that support people arriving by various modes, such as a bicycle repair facility or additional bicycle parking facilities.

46	SJEC			Notes from Commissioners: Belonging in Parks is important and Parks can be used to tell the history - visual and story telling - good and the ugly. Sculptures and markers like the Freedom Monument in Montgomery Georgia. Ask yourselves, as we design new parks how are we honoring history? Cross referencing inclusion and belonging. With a lack of housing, how are parks addressing the unhoused? Parks should be welcoming to all.
