Project Date/Time	Fri. July 10, 2020 - 7 pm; Sat. July 11 - 2 pm & 7 pm; Sunday July 12 - 2 pm

Q4 Please provide a brief description of your project

A Community Comes Together -

The event will be a recreation of the July 1920 opening day celebration for the Hotel, which was built after over 150 Thurston county residents pooled their resources and raised $320,000 to build a "world class hotel" for fear of losing the state Capital to Seattle or Tacoma. The Hotel was instantaneously the political hub and social center of Olympia. It's been said that more bills were passed in the Hotel than in the adjacent Capitol.

The Play will feature a small orchestra in the ballroom, pre-show guided tours (also offered in 1920) and a Stardust-esque love story featuring some of the major players of Olympia's past. It's entirely possible a ghost or two may appear and you won't want to miss the 1920 short film, "What Our World Will Look Like in 100 Years."

Q5 How will your project be marketed?

NPA media campaign collaboration with confirmed sponsorships from "Oly Arts," City of Olympia Arts Commission, Thurston County Historical Commission, and Roxy 94.5 (Jerry Farmer), where we'll record PSA's for other local radio outlets, including a confirmed interview with Dick Pust (KXXO).

Thurston Talk has already written a feature on this project and it will continue to be documented by other media sources, including our co-sponsor, Oly Arts, as well as The Olympian, The Volcano, the Northwest Playwrights Alliance website and fb page, and an upcoming website devoted to this project. Because we're a non-profit producing a free production, Brown Paper Tickets will serve as our cost-free box office and contribute to our social media presence throughout western Washington.

Additionally, we will publish the script and make it available to our audience, county libraries, the Washington State Library and local booksellers.

We're currently negotiating with TCTV for a non-commercial taping and repeated showings of the full production as well as download accessibility on the Northwest Playwrights Alliance fb site and website.

Q6 Who is participating (as artists, or performers, etc.)

Director, Deane Shellman, Washington State Arts Commission
Musical Director, Daven Tillinghast
Cast currently includes Jill Barnes, Washington Center for the Performing Arts
Mayor Cheryl Selby
(The show will be cast in mid-March)
Writers include:
Bryan Willis
Alejandra Esqueda Hunt

Ramón Esquivel

Jacob Bevalacqua Haggard

Dramaturg: Geoff Proehl
Stage Manager, tech and designers to be confirmed by mid-March

Q7 Who is the intended audience?

We hope to reach anyone in the county who is interested in history, theater, music, architecture, laughing, thinking and being entertained by a once-in-a-hundred-year experience. Our publicity plan is designed to connect with a diverse audience in terms of ethnicity, age and income. Producing this as a Free Production certainly will help us attract audiences who might not otherwise be able to attend. However, in our 15-years of producing plays, we've learned the best way to attract is a diverse audience is to offer a play representing diversity. This begins with the story, writers and our artists. As with many of our shows, we hope that when you look around the audience will include students, Panorama residents, international students, the business community, neighbors and tourists.

Q8 What is your approximate full budget for the project? greater than $10,000
(pick one)

Q9 Who else is sponsoring this project?

Olympia Arts Commission, Thurston County Historical Commission, Oly Arts, ROXY 94.5 fm,

We've reserved the Hotel Olympian Ballroom, mezzanine and lobby for performances in mid-July. Community response has already been extremely positive but we know many people will be out of town. It's our wish to produce a single encore performance in mid-September, with an emphasis on encouraging students to attend. PBIA funding would be especially helpful for this additional performance. Thanks in advance for your time and consideration.
