Statement of Significance:

When we purchased this home approximately one year ago, we were given a document that has been handed down over the years to homeowners. It contains a written statement documenting the timeline of ownership of her family members in the 1920's, including lots of hand-noted family photographs.

This house was built by Mr. Carlyon, a well-known local builder at the time. It appears that a very influential and well-known banking family lived in this home in the 1920's. This timeline is well-documented by one of the early residents in her attached letter and noted photographs.

The architectural home features a swooping roof line, along with exposed brackets and rafter tails. I read that this home is a considered a modest Tudor Revival cottage. You had noted during your first visit to the home that you thought it may be one of the Tumwater Kit Homes, but I was unable to locate it as I looked thru a few catalogues that I found online.

Luckily, it has retained most of the original exterior (and many interior) features, including windows and horizontal wood cladding. There appears to be some original wallpaper inside a few of the home's interior closets, which is a beautiful surprise! Unfortunately, the fireplace was lost during the earthquake.

Please let me know if I can provide any further information. We look forward to moving forward on this process with you!

Best regards, Kim

Statement of Significance:

The house is a good example of a modest Tudor revival cottage. Examples are fairly common in early 20th century neighborhoods in Olympia. The house does not include the half-timbering associated with high style Tudor revival homes, but is a smaller, more modest example of a bungalow with Tudor and Craftsman details. It retains its integrity in design, craftsmanship, feeling and materials. The majority of its windows are wood, it is clad in horizontal wood boards, and it retains its distinctive swooping roof line along with its brackets and exposed rafter tails.

Description of Physical Appearance:

420 Carlyon is a cross-gabled, L-shaped Tudor revival cottage facing south. It is one-and-a-half stories and is ornamented with craftsman details. The L is made up a side gabled central structure and a protruding, south facing leg on the house's western half. The house is approached from a poured concrete stoop sheltered by the L's sweeping gable roof. The house has a central entry with flanking focal windows. These craftsman windows include divided lights above fixed lights. The door also features divided lights. Craftsman details include brackets and exposed rafter tails. The house has an attached garage on its eastern elevation.

Ms. Sandra Moss
Mr. Benton S. Cook
420 Carlyon Avenue
Olympia, WA 98501

Dear Sandra and Benton,

What a truly delightful adventure it was to meet you and see "208" Carlyon Avenue again! You gave me a great deal of pleasure and I'm most grateful!

The house was part of my life for many years and I often think of it, and the wonderful times I had there, as a child and teen-ager. Because my parents moved often, my grandparents' home seemed to be more my "permanent" home than any other. I loved it and I'm so pleased you do too.

In brief, the history of the house is this:

My mother's parents, Howard Chauncey and Minnie Brooks (Yoder) Lucas, in 1924, were living in Yakima. Granddaddy was with The Yakima Trust Company. In the course of his business there, he met Clarence J. Lord who was the founder, owner and president of what was then The Capital National Bank. (Later, the National Bank of Commerce and now is called, I think, Security-Pacific Bank.)

Mr. Lord invited Howard to be his new Vice President, and Howard accepted. In August of 1924 Howard and Minnie moved to Olympia. They first lived in a house near the Capitol Building, not far from the Post Office. (I can't remember the name of the street, only the house number - "301".) At first, many of their household goods remained unpacked, much to Minnie's distress, while they looked for a house to buy. (Presumably they unpacked much more by September 12, 1925, since my mother was married in the house that day.)

On Saturday, January 23, 1926, Minnie notes in her diary, Howard brought home the plans of a new house built by a Mr. Carlyon, on Carlyon Avenue, in what was called "Carlyon Addition". It was just outside the city limits then, a drawback, because the residents had to pay an extra fee for fire protection and water, but Carlyon had the reputation of being a fine builder, and the house was in a quiet neighborhood and away from the busy downtown buildings.

Minnie had already met Mrs. Carlyon. Both were members of "P.E.O." (a womens' international Philanthropic and Educational Organization Minnie had joined in 1900.) At that time, the Carlyons lived on Capitol Blvd., just about a block away from the new house. The Carlyons, Minnie and Howard inspected the house and on Tuesday, January 26th, they decided to buy it.

On Saturday, January 30th Minnie writes, she and Howard took some of her china out to the new house. (Our two daughters and I now have some of those same pieces. They sat in the same cupboards you now have and they've made a good many cross-country moves since then.) On February 4th the moving men took almost all the furniture out to the new house, but their son, William, moved the Grandfather Clock. (It would seem that even then, moving companies were not trusted to move the most valuable pieces!) On Saturday, February 6, 1926, Minnie, Howard, Minnie's mother, Josephine Elmira (Maffett) Yoder, then age 78, William, and "Baylo", a German shepherd, all had dinner in the new house. Minnie said, "Now, I feel we are living here!"

William (called "Billie"), by the way, on September 15, 1928, married Helen Elizabeth Lord, the daughter of C.J. and Elizabeth (Reynolds) Lord. The Lord's home is now The Capitol Museum. (I remember that home too, nearly as well as "208". The two families shared Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, alternating years, in both homes. I'm sad to say, I'm probably the only one still living, who remembers the "Museum", when it was a real "home". Billie and Helen's two children, my cousins, Denny and Liz, are 6 and 11 years younger than I. (I was born the on June 28, 1926.)

I've enclosed copies of old pictures and written a few words about each one. They are all only snapshots, but fun and the only pictures I seem to find, at the moment. Hope you enjoy them.

If you have any further questions about it, which you think I might answer, please write. You might also contact my second cousin, (on my father's side), who lived two blocks down the street on Carlyon, when we were both young. She is Virginia (Bench) Mugartequi, the daughter of Howard and Charlotte (Doty) Bench. She's lived in Olympia all her life and would be happy, I know, to answer any questions. She's the owner of the J-Vee Health Food Stores in Lacey and Tumwater.

Thank you again for the happy tears you brought to my eyes when I saw your lovely home! I can't tell you how much I enjoyed it!

Affectionately,

Jean
