Background and Analysis:

On February 9, 2016, the Olympia City Council passed a resolution adopting the 2016 Olympia Parks, Arts and Recreation Plan. The City conducted a very thorough and interactive public process over several months including a public hearing on January 12, 2016. The Plan was crafted to achieve the desired levels of service for park facilities within the document's 20-year planning horizon. To ensure alignment, the Olympia Parks, Arts and Recreation Department (OPARD) and the OMPD should be working towards achieving the same vision and goals. This can be achieved by adopting the same plan.
